Increase productivity level

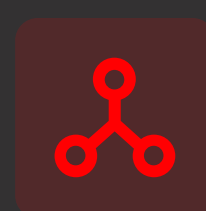

The dynamics of modern business environments require new technology that combines multiple communication channels into one solution. Stay connected with your team and customers via chat, video call, conference call, email, or direct call. Organise your document system, convene meetings, assign tasks, write notes and proposals, or analyse data – all this and much more.

How will the solution help you?

Better collaboration

Make a phone call, edit documents, or join a meeting. With document sharing, you can collaborate and get work done wherever you are, and have an organised view of your files in the SharePoint file system. Access applications such as Microsoft Word, Excel, and PowerPoint and work with colleagues on the same document in real time.

Effective communication

Send instant messages to one person or a whole group, join a video call, or share a screen to make faster and better decisions. Reduce unnecessary email communication and easily share content via instant messaging or custom groups. Form teams for a specific area or topic to stay focused and organised.

Superior connectivity

To make good business decisions, you need the right information, quickly and transparently. With Teams, you can integrate many additional solutions via the Apps tool to make your work easier and faster. For example, you can use Power BI to view your data, or Dynamics 365 to access customer data or documents via SharePoint.

Superior safety

Protect user privacy with built-in security systems and have peace of mind that your personal data is protected from unwanted access. Control information, log in and content search options. Promote safer meetings with powerful controls and policies to prevent interruptions and remove disruptive participants or block anonymous guests.
